2022 Indiana State & Northeast Indiana Big Sister of the Year

BIG SISTER ANGI & LITTLE SISTER JENNA

Matched since 2015

Big Sister Angi has been matched with Little Sister Jenna since September 2015 and the pair was selected as Big Brothers Big Sisters of America's 2023 Big & Little Sisters of the Year to represent the nation. The duo was selected out of hundreds of matches whom were nominated from BBBS agencies across the nation.

Since their very first lunch, Big Sister Angi and Little Sister Jenna showed themselves a strong, committed, perfectly fit match. The pair spent three years in the School Buddy program, having lunch together every week. During these lunches, they often read together, wrote journal entries together, or played games. At one point, they spent awhile working on a science experiment together. In this way, Big Sister Angi encouraged Little Sister Jenna along in her academics through exciting, engaging, and often indirect ways. These efforts paid off as Jenna developed stronger reading abilities.

When the match transferred to the Community-Based Program, they continued sharing meals together, reading together, and working on homework together. Angi showed herself to be an all-around advocate for Jenna, putting in the time to help Jenna grow academically, personally, or relationally. Through this intentional time, Angi says,

"Our relationship grows more and more each time we are together, and I love watching Jenna's confidence grow!"

Angi, like Jenna, is overweight, but she has taught Jenna to embrace her inner beauty and self-love. Now, both of them exude self-confidence and show that no matter your size or shape, you can do anything you want to! Together they've completed triathlons and proven that just because they're overweight, doesn't mean they're physically limited. They weight-lift, go on walks, and participate in the Princess runs. Angi has imparted a grace and self-confidence in Jenna which Jenna takes to the core. Angi and Jenna are proud to be strong, Jenna has lopped off 100 pounds, and no longer wears her hair in her face. This fall she and Jenna took to the catwalk at a BBBS fashion show!

Angi doesn't just support Jenna; she supports the entire family, from Grandma on down to Jenna's little brother. Angi has a psychological understanding of the problems faced by a family in legal trouble and uses her expertise to help Jenna out. Angi considers Jenna the sister she never had.

As she has grown older, Jenna has faced incredibly difficult times with her family's multiple moves, her school transfers, her parents' separation, and her grandparents passing. Throughout, Big Sister Angi has remained a steadfast support for Jenna. She's there to listen, encourage, and challenge Jenna in whatever way she needs, always striving to be a good role model. Big Sister Angi has developed a good relationship with Jenna's mother and works with her to ensure that she supports Jenna in the most fitting way possible. According to Jenna's mother, having Big Sister Angi around to support Jenna has been "invaluable."

Jenna and Angi have celebrated immense growth together over the years as Jenna's reading abilities continued to develop. Still, the most remarkable achievement of their Match is the bond they have developed. Through shared meals, laughter, and heartfelt conversation about every aspect of life, this Match has grown incredibly close. Big Sister Angi has remained a consistent support in Jenna's life and no matter how much time passed between their get-togethers, the pair were as close as ever. This has given them hope and encouragement over the last few months when they have been unable to meet in person.

"Angi is always going to be one of my closest friends. She's always going to be there for me."

BIG BROTHER ZANE & LITTLE BROTHER CHRIS

Matched since 2015

When Big Brother Zane started a new job shortly after college, he knew his life was stable enough to search for a deeper meaning in his free time. While scouring volunteer websites, Zane found a reference to Big Brothers Big Sisters. The organization leaped off the page. Zane knew what it was like to grow up with a single mother, so he related to the BBBS mission instantly. In May of 2015, he was matched with Little Brother Chris.

Little Brother Chris was always an easy-going kid, but he was reserved and sensitive. Although he didn't like to be a loner, Chris was often excluded at school due to his race and class. He maintained a good performance in school, with his grades improving as he got older. From a young age, Chris enjoyed sports, especially football and soccer, and he loved to play video games and watch TV. He grew up being raised by his mother with sporadic visits from his father, whose lack of interest hurt Chris deeply. When he was 12 years old, Chris's mother enrolled him with BBBS in hopes of finding a solid, dependable male role model to encourage, support and guide Chris over time. Big Brother Zane noticed that Chris had symptoms of autism and helped him get diagnosed on the spectrum.

Zane has always been someone Chris can talk to and confide in. Their relationship started in the School Buddy program, where Zane worked hard to draw Chris out of his shell. By the time they moved to Community-Based, Big Brother Zane and Little Brother Chris had formed an unbreakable bond.

Often ostracized by his classmates, Chris sometimes felt like Zane was the only person he could turn to. As he grappled with an autism diagnosis and a lack of interest from his father, Chris sometimes feared his other relationships would sour too. When he and his mother had an argument, Chris knew he could turn to Zane for help. He showed up on Zane's doorstep without warning, and Big Brother Zane took it upon himself to provide Chris with new clothes for the school day, a safe place to sleep, and most importantly, a mediator and advocate. Zane talked to Chris's mother and helped Chris understand the miscommunication that had driven Chris out of a loving parent's home; in no time at all, Chris was back where he belonged, and his bond with his mother was stronger than ever.

Over the years, Chris often struggled in school, but Big Brother Zane was always there for him. Nothing will ever make Zane prouder than the day he watched Little Brother Chris graduate from high school.

"I remember the first time we walked after meeting at Chris's elementary school," said Zane.

"I knew right then that I made the right choice and that I was doing something that was going to have a big impact on my life as well."

Since their first outing, Big Brother Zane has done a phenomenal job consistently supporting Chris. The pair meet as often as possible, even if it's just to play video games and catch up. The impact of this consistency shows in the strength of their bond.

The way that Zane has been there for Chris when the chips were down – that is the most valuable achievement of this match and it will continue to positively shape Chris's development for years to come. Seven years after they first matched, Chris is moving into adulthood, and his relationship with Zane is stronger than ever. Zane is now married and beginning his own family, and Chris is a full part of that trio!

2022 Northeast Indiana Big Couple of the Year

BIG COUPLE RYAN & ASHLEY LITTLE BROTHER ZAYDYN

Matched since 2015

Little Brother Zaydyn is a great kid whose father left when he was one. That’s why his mom signed him up for Big Brothers Big Sisters – so Zaydyn could find a male role model to teach him the things that Mom could not. Zaydyn struggles in school and has a history of failing classes, including gym class, although he loves sports and is currently on the bowling team at his school. Zaydyn is a sweet, caring kid who struggles with poor behavior and needed a Big to help him out.

To this day, Ashley remembers the time she took Zaydyn to a Match Activity at Big Brothers Big Sisters. When another little boy introduced himself, Little Brother Zaydyn didn’t understand that he was supposed to shake hands. After the activity, Big Sister Ashley and Big Brother Ryan took Zaydyn aside and taught him what to do when he meets someone new, step by step.

Early on, Little Brother Zaydyn couldn’t interact with other kids at all, and his Big Sister and Brother had to teach him the basics. He was terrified of swingsets and didn’t understand how to swing until Ashley and Ryan taught him. He didn’t know how to order from a menu or talk to a waiter at a restaurant, either, but he trusted Big Sister Ashley and Big Brother Ryan to show him how. On outings, Ryan and Ashley always push Zaydyn to try new things, whether it’s a new food at a restaurant or an activity that frightens him.

In fact, Zaydyn often takes the initiative now, as he did at a Tin Caps game where despite his fear of heights, he insisted on tackling the rock wall. Big Sister Ashley could tell Zaydyn was psyching himself out over the heights, but he made it several steps up and Ashley and Ryan made sure to congratulate him afterward for his bravery.

2022 Northeast Indiana School Buddy of the Year

BIG SISTER KATHY & LITTLE SISTER ANNI

Matched since 2018

When they’re together, Big Sister Kathy and Little Sister Anni love to eat lunch, play games, and most importantly, read! Anni has gotten behind on her reading, but still loves going through picture and chapter books with Kathy. Little Sister Anni enjoys the stories and loves making her Big Sister smile as her reading skills improve. Sometimes Big Sister Kathy is saddened by the way summer break impedes Anni’s progress.

Over the years, it’s not just Anni’s reading that has improved. When Kathy first met her Little Sister, Anni had been convinced she couldn’t learn or play the way other children could. Someone in Anni’s life had told her she was a shaken baby, and that as a result, she simply wasn’t capable of the things her classmates did easily. Quickly, Big Sister Kathy realized that this wasn’t necessarily true. Anni had just learned to give up before she tried; she had internalized such poor self-esteem that she truly believed basic skills were out of her grasp.

Now, after years of encouragement from Big Sister Kathy, Anni is determined to live as normal a life as possible. Her behavior and overall happiness have improved immensely. Anni gets along with and helps her younger siblings now, and has learned not to ignore adults or put her earphones in when people are talking to her.

She’s made many friends in the school with Kathy’s help and encouragement, and has talked through her conflicted feelings about being a shaken baby at length.

“I’ve had a lot of Littles, and it’s always really rewarding to see them grow,” said Kathy. “I’ve been with Anni since kindergarten and I’ve watched her grow and become more confident.”

WE WANT YOU!

500 BIGS IN 50 DAYS

For Big Brothers Big Sister’s 50th anniversary, the agency wanted to make it BIG by setting a goal they never thought could be achievable: recruit 500 potential Bigs in 50 work days.

What started out as an ambitious goal for a summer recruitment campaign turned into one of the agency’s most successful campaigns to date. Recruitment kicked off at the end of July and by the time August began, over 100 people had asked for more information or signed up to be a Big. Staff and community involvement was a huge factor in the success of the campaign – it was board members, Bigs, and devoted workers who got Big Brothers Big Sisters into workplaces, places of worship, and social gatherings to showcase the Mission community-wide.

This was the first year that the agency took a BIG step in having a strong and diversified digital presence to reach as many people as possible. From traditional strategies such as prints, televised ads, radio spots, and newspapers, they were able to strike any opportunity that arose and effectively communicated the need for volunteers in Northeast Indiana.

The recruitment campaign team also began reaching out to new audiences by getting hands-on in social media, with frequent campaign updates and advertisements that would help build an impression among online users. With how vast the internet is, the campaign’s advertisement reached beyond Northeast Indiana’s borders and touched base with residents outside the agency’s service area. This means our campaign didn’t just help US recruit Bigs – it recruited Bigs for other agencies around the United States, too! By the end of the recruitment campaign in September, over 565 potential volunteers were ready to start their next step in becoming a Big.

This hard work caught the attention of Big Brothers Big Sisters of America. At the 2023 Big Brothers Big Sisters National Conference, the marketing team shared their insight with agencies across the nation, detailing how they were able to complete such a daunting task with the resources provided. The team later received Gold Standard in Recruitment for the Biggie Award, an award dedicated to finding the best marketing collaterals to spark ideas and ignite potential opportunities for other agencies to utilize

One new Big Brother recruited during this campaign said, “My Little and I have had time to bond through our outings thanks to Big Brothers Big Sisters. I’m very satisfied with this match, and I’m looking forward to many shared fun and learning experiences with my Little in the future. Thank you, Big Brothers Big Sisters!”

BBBS at the Airshow Day & A Blossoming Partnership to start 2023

122ND FIGHTER WING

Biggs, Littles, BBBS Staffs, and family members were invited to attend a pre-show at the Fort Wayne Airshow on June 3, 2022.

It started as a small collaboration between 122nd Fighter Wing and BBBSNEI to invite Biggs & Littles onto the airfield to learn more about the Indiana Air National Guard. There, they visited shops, watch practice runs for the air show, toured planes that were stationed, and hear an inspirational message from the Air Force Thunderbirds over lunch.

In the future, 122nd Fighter Wing aims to establish a partnership to recruit Biggs and be more involved with the agency in any parts they can. In ways, this partnership will help Littles who are interested in enlisting after high school.

As a token of thanks, they stopped by the agency to gift a Thunderbird Litho to celebrate the start of a partnership between the agency and the unit.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana's New Health & Wellness Program

LET'S BFIT!

Indiana is ranked tenth in the nation for obesity. On the other end of the scale, one out of seven children in Indiana face hunger.

That's why Big Brothers Big Sisters' Health and Wellness Coordinator is rolling out a brand-new program to get our kids moving and teach them to exercise joyfully – targeting both needs at the same time!

"What we want to do is work on physical, nutritional, and emotional health," said the Health and Wellness Coordinator, "so my job is to bring in new match activities, tour our community, and help our matches, our volunteers, our Bigs and Littles, turn the curb on those numbers."

To do this, BBBS has partnered with Purdue University's Health and Wellness department to provide food and nutrition services to our Bigs and Littles every week! At these activities, Littles learn about healthy choices, participate in food tastings, and even learn how to cook their own healthy snacks and meals. This program runs for six weeks at a time, bringing our Bigs and Littles through a complete nutritional course that shows them how easy it is to combat obesity and stay healthy and strong.

Through the "Bring It, Own It, Push It" program, BBBS provides mindfulness sessions, motivational speaking, self-love talks, and some physical movement – Because we always try to encourage physical movement in every activity. Even at the nutritional sessions, we always make sure to stretch!"

Bigs and Littles can enjoy Zumba sessions together and explore new modes of exercise at the open gym. Basketball sessions are ongoing every Thursday, with volleyball starting later this year, and a running club to keep both Bigs and Littles busy.

In the coming months, BBBS hopes to network with local businesses and doctors who are interested in presenting to the kids.

"We just got to take care of ourselves, we really do," said one BBBS employee. "We can pull together as a community and show our kids how to take care of themselves and how to get moving. I'm excited to do it!"

$50K Donation for Big Brothers Big Sisters's Conservation Buddies Program

NIPSCO & NISOURCE

NIPSCO and the NiSource Charitable Foundation announced a $50,000 donation to Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana over the next two years. This donation will go toward expanding the Conservation Buddies program, which is dedicated to environmental education.

Serving 12 counties in Northeast Indiana, the Fort Wayne-based Big Brothers Big Sisters agency started Conservation Buddies last year with the support of Big Brother Andrew Niedermeyer and Big Sister Charita Niedermeyer. As passionate hunters, nature-lovers, and volunteers with the organization, the Niedermeyers noticed a need for environmental education among Littles on interactive activities to make wildlife restoration, environmental protection, and exposure to the outdoors fun for Littles ages 8-22.

With this generous donation from NIPSCO and the NiSource Charitable Foundation, Big Brothers Big Sisters will fund programming, equipment, and supplies for two years. They will partner with local organizations to host 20 activities, including two overnight campouts for 50 matches, and provide professional case management for 10 new Big and Little matches.

"Environmental education has many benefits for our Littles, Bigs and communities," said Shelley Schwab, Chief Development Officer of Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana. "It connects us to the world around us, providing pivotal teaching and learning moments about both natural and built environments. Our youth may learn about environmental education in the classroom but do not have the opportunity to experience hands-on learning."

"In 2021, NIPSCO provided $5,000 through an Environmental Action grant to help seed Conservation Buddies," said Dana Berkes, Public Affairs and Economic Development Manager at NIPSCO, a NiSource company. "The program's proven success and collaborative partnerships with environmental stewardship and conservation organizations across Northeast Indiana, along with the proven benefits of nature education on youth, is the reason Big Brothers Big Sisters was selected for this impact funding."

So far, volunteers have guided Little Brothers and Sisters through bowfishing, planter box maintenance, building a rain garden, rifle shooting and education, honeybee care, archery and much more. Through Conservation Buddies, Littles can learn to fish, ride a horse, and identify birds, and bond with their Big while doing so – and with NIPSCO, the educational opportunities won't stop there.

"What I'm most excited for about Conservation Buddies is giving our kids this opportunity to explore the outdoors and experience something they never have before," said Schwab. "It's simply amazing. On our last camp-out, it was so sweltering hot, I thought everyone would be miserable. But when I looked at these kids, at every moment from the littlest things like making a S'more for the first time to the big milestones like learning to swim in a real lake, all I saw were these enormous eyes and beaming smiles."

"That's why I'm honored to work with NIPSCO to bring this programming to our kids for another two years!"

$50K for the 50th Year: Former Little Brother Donates BIG to Big Brothers Big Sisters

RYAN HELLINGER & CME CORP.

Today, Ryan Hellinger is the president of CME Corporation, a successful Fort Wayne-based contractor company. But in 1984, Hellinger was a child enrolled in Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana, an organization that he says changed his life forever – and Aug. 27, former Little Brother Ryan Hellinger wowed his hometown mentorship agency when he donated $50,000 to Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana in honor of its 50th anniversary.

Founded in 1972, the Fort Wayne-based agency was celebrating its annual fundraising gala and live auction when Hellinger announced his big news. Busy volunteers and staff hustled through the dining room, desperate to recruit new mentors for the 200 children on the waitlist or funds for background checks and educational activities. Onstage, Hellinger and his Big Brother Vince Wirtner gave speeches about the impact of Big Brothers Big Sisters on their lives, a moment they’d scheduled and rehearsed with the assistance of Big Brothers Big Sisters staff. But when Hellinger took the microphone from Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana CEO Josette Rider for a surprise announcement, no one knew what he would say except for Hellinger.

His announcement of a $50,000 donation drove Rider to tears.

Hellinger’s deep connection to the mission statement of Big Brothers Big Sisters goes all the way back to early 80s, just 12 years after the agency was founded. That was the year seven-year-old Hellinger was formally matched with Big Brother Vince, a mentorship he credits with changing his life and filling in the “missing pieces” after Hellinger’s father passed away. Without a father, Hellinger needed a male role model – someone to play catch with him and take him on bike rides in the summer – and for 20-year-old Vince, it seemed like an easy job. What neither of them realized at the time was that Vince’s constant support and love for his Little Brother – his commitment to just being there when Ryan needed him – would heal Hellinger’s wounds and set him on the path to success.

Now, Hellinger’s greatest goal is to use his success to assist the organization in any way he can. With three teenage daughters of his own, Hellinger doesn’t feel now is the best time to become a Big Brother. But that doesn’t mean he can’t help. His donation of $50,000 will fund background checks and professional vetting of volunteers, transportation for Littles, tutoring services, and STEM and outdoors programming for local Bigs looking to expose their Littles to something new. Donations like Hellinger’s help provide Little Brothers and Sisters with new shoes and backpacks for the school year; when families are in need, Big Brothers Big Sisters uses donations like Hellinger’s to deliver Christmas presents and much-needed groceries. These are services Hellinger once benefited from himself; now he gets to provide that experience to the children of Northeast Indiana today.

Until he can volunteer as a Big, Hellinger will keep doing whatever he can to get Big Brothers Big Sisters’ message out and to be a guiding light, as Big Brother Vince was for him.

“You never know when that message is going to resonate,” Hellinger said. “That’s why you have to take the first step now, today. Volunteer for Big Brothers Big Sisters. You won’t regret it – I can guarantee that – and you might just save a kid’s life.”

AUER FOUNDATION SUNSETS

It’s not every day a foundation “sunset” – that is, donates every cent to worthy causes and closes its doors forever. But that’s what the Edward D. and Ione Auer Foundation did this year following a monetary donation to Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana.

Established in 1984, the Auer Foundation always planned to close its doors in 2022. By doing so, it could ensure the money left behind by Edward and Ione went to good causes in a timely manner, and in amounts high enough to make a big difference.

Over the course of its 38 years, the Auer Foundation focused on music, arts, education, parks and other charitable purposes in the Fort Wayne area, always on the lookout for new ways to benefit the community at large.

In 2013, the Auer Foundation set its sights on Big Brothers Big Sisters, a non-profit focused on one-to-one mentorship programs for children in 13 counties across Northeast Indiana. The Auer Foundation formed an endowment in the name of Big Brothers Big Sisters CEO Josette Rider, to the tune of $1,000,000. This million-dollar commitment expanded the Fort Wayne-based agency’s daily mentoring services and programs to all-new heights, providing a boost not just to the Big Brothers Big Sisters mission, but to the everyday lives of children in the Fort Wayne community as well.

MACKENZIE SCOTT’S YIELD GIVING

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana announced today its aim to transform mentorship in local communities with an unprecedented gift of $3 million. The gift, from philanthropist MacKenzie Scott, makes up a total of $122.6 million donated to Big Brothers Big Sisters agencies around the nation. This donation supports the organization in furthering its mission to ensure young people have access to powerful mentoring experiences that empower them with a plan for their future and a mentor whose impact lasts a lifetime.

Today, nearly 11 million kids live in poverty and more than 13 million young people experience emotional, behavioral, or developmental conditions like depression. And during the height of the pandemic, 20 percent of youth served by Big Brothers Big Sisters nationally lost contact with an important adult in their lives. In Northeast Indiana alone, there are more than 882 young people, known as “Littles,” waiting to be matched with mentors, known as “Bigs.”

This unprecedented investment is the largest donation from a single individual in the organization’s history and serves as a powerful message in recognizing the importance of investing in mentorship to build and strengthen communities and society as a whole.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana believes no one person, organization or gift alone can drive the significant impact mentorship can have on a young person’s life. It takes a village of mentors, volunteers, and donors to positively impact young people’s lives. This investment in Big Brothers Bigs Sisters of Northeast Indiana and its community is an invitation for more people and partners to join in transforming mentorship for young people today and for generations to come.

CORPORATE COMMUNITY PARTNERS

Special thanks to our Corporate Community Partners for underwriting our programs & supporting the children in our communities during 2022
